Verbal Password		The verbal password is used by the central monitoring station to verify your identity when speaking with you on the telephone. This password will need to be given anytime you instruct the central monitoring station to ignore an accidental alarm.
Verbal Duress Code (Optional)		The verbal duress code can be given over the telephone in the event of a hostage situation. The duress code covertly communicates to the central monitoring station that you are in need of police assistance and cannot overtly specify this need without alerting the intruders.
